"WHAT IS A MALUNGEON?"

BY E. POLK JOHNSON.

Query of Louisvillian Brings Up Mystery of Strange Race Which Probably Never Will Be Solved.

"WHAT is a Malungeon?" was the rather startling question that Col. Morris Belknap asked me the

IT WASN'T in the state suite of the Lusitania, but it was a trip to Europe, nevertheless, and two weeks of seeing the sights of London and Paris.

And the individuals who accomplished this task were two Central High School boys, who have just returned to Washington and who are delighting their friends with the picturesque narratives of their many experiences and hardships during their way across the ocean in a sturdy ship and of their participation in Paris, where French was to them more mystifying than the dead language of Rome and Greece, says the Washington Star.

When the names of the sad Calvert Chaney brothers, Dick and Calvert, are mentioned, it is likely that the 19 years of Technical education which Mr. Chaney may wish to dispute the performance.

When the cattle ship left its dock at Baltimore July 31 there were six "greenies" on board, two of "whom were Dick and Chaney. Before they slipped out of sight the six were greenies, for two of them were boys fr
